

Central Issuance System

The Division is continuing to mail driver license and identification cards through a central issuance system. This secure method means that customers will leave the DMV service center with a temporary driving certificate (TDC), or a temporary identification certificate (TIC) good for 20 days. Below is an example of what you will receive prior to leaving the driver license office.

The new driver license or identification card will be printed and mailed to you in an unmarked envelope (similar to credit card mailings) and will typically arrive within two weeks, before the temporary driving certificate or temporary identification certificate expires.
