Wildfires Close Short Stretches of Roads in Western North Carolina

ASHEVILLE - At times, the signs could barely be seen through the smoke and the haze. But the message communicated was clear: Road Closed.

Department of Transportation crews posted a handful of digital message boards in Western North Carolina that roads were closed due to wildfire during November.

More than 20 separate wildfire complexes scorched in excess of 70,000 acres and forced neighborhood evacuations from Swain County to McDowell County and pockets of North Carolina with hazardous air quality.

Despite the devastation, only four major highways needed to be closed. Transportation officials worked with various agencies to organize the closures and set up marked detours.

A seven-mile stretch of U.S. 64/74A and N.C. 9 in Rutherford County - the main route through Chimney Rock Village and Lake Lure - closed on Nov. 11 due to the Party Rock Fire. The same fire closed a shorter stretch of N.C. 9 on Nov. 16. Both opened on the evening of Nov. 20 and allowed business to open the next day for residents and visitors.

A fire in Swain County closed 14 miles of U.S. 74/N.C. 19 through the Nantahala Gorge for about 48 hours starting on Nov. 12. In McDowell County, the Clear Creek Fire forced the closure of N.C. 80 from Old Toms Creek to the Blue Ridge Parkway.

In all, less than 35 miles of roads were closed to help crews battle the wildfires, which consumed more than 110 square miles of land in Western North Carolina. Governor McCrory declared a state of emergency and a burn ban on Nov. 11 and transportation officials reminded motorists of the ban through digital messaging on message mounts in the mountains.

"We were able to help and do our part with the closures and the detours," Division 13 Maintenance Engineer Mark Gibbs said. "We were happy to assist our friends at the N.C. Forest Service, the U.S. Forest Service and all of the local agencies."

NCDOT Crews Prep for Winter Weather

Winter is approaching and that means N.C. Department of Transportation is preparing for rough road conditions. When snow and ice are in the forecast, DOT has more than 1,700 dump trucks fitted with sand and salt spreaders, 495 front end loaders and backhoes, and 332 motor graders to use throughout the state as needed.

Most importantly, more than 3,200 specially trained employees are available to assist with the hazards associated with winter weather. Earlier this fall, each county in Division 13 participated in a Snow-Day prep day which consisted of loading sand spreaders on to dump trucks, fixing plows to the front of trucks and driving routes that will

We Need Your Input!

The N.C. Department of Transportation has opened the department's second annual customer survey.

All citizen feedback will be collected online at go.ncsu.edu/customerservice2016. The survey takes 15 minutes to complete and the survey link is mobile friendly.

The N.C. General Assembly requires the survey to gauge how the transportation department is providing great customer service. Participation can help NCDOT identify ways to make North Carolina transportation services safer, more efficient and customer focused.

The online survey will close December 31. The results will be available to the public on NCDOT.gov in 2017.

RALEIGH - State and local law enforcement officers issued 1,961 seat belt and 340 child passenger violations during the Governor's Highway Safety Program's Thanksgiving Click It or Ticket enforcement campaign on Nov. 20-26.

"No one ever plans to be in a traffic crash, so the Click It or Ticket campaign is about saving lives and changing the way people think," said Don Nail, director of the Governor's Highway Safety Program. "The seat-belt enforcement efforts are about reminding people that failing to buckle-up is not worth risking a ticket, a traffic crash, or your life."

Over the holiday enforcement period, state and local law enforcement agencies held 2,786 checkpoints and stepped-up patrols, issuing 3,209 traffic and criminal violations. The top five counties for occupant restraint violations were:

- Wake County: 210
- Guilford County: 100

Hurricane Continues to Impact Central, Eastern Parts of North Carolina

Hurricane Matthew continues to impact eastern and central North Carolina.

More than 600 roads in the state were damaged by the Oct. 8 hurricane. Transportation workers have been tirelessly assessing and repairing the damage.

At press time, approximately 153 roads remain affected from hurricane damage throughout eastern North Carolina. Debris removal, shoulder repairs and pipe replacements will likely continue throughout December and into 2017. Some construction projects will be completed in the spring when conditions improve for paving.

In its 23rd year, the Click It or Ticket education and enforcement campaign reminds motorists that wearing a seat belt is the single most effective action that a person can take to save their life.

The campaign aims to increase driver seat belt usage rates and reduce fatalities across North Carolina and has yielded significant results over the years. Between 2010 and 2014, an average of 545 lives were saved per year due to the use of seat belts in passenger vehicles.

The overall seat belt usage rate for North Carolina increased from 89.9 percent in 2015 to 91.7 percent in 2016.

The Governor's Highway Safety Program believes that increased enforcement efforts from law enforcement and the expansion of public awareness campaigns will result in maintaining a high usage rate.
